Every little bit of news of Uncle Sam's men and ships engaged with Mexico will be eagerly sought by you. We are taking this means of bringing to your attention the unapproached facilities of our paper to keep you posted on what transpires. If it occurs at night, The Times will contain a truthful and full account every morning, while the happenings of the day are faithfully related in The Star. This gives opportunity of emphasizing the value of the 24-hour news service rendered every subscriber to The Daily Star, Times and Sunday Star. The Times will print the Associated Press full night reports and The Star the entire day service. This to be supplemented by the work of staff writers and special correspondents located at actual scenes of operations and at all news distributing centers.

One subscription covers both editions (a added charge for the double daily service) and the subscription price of The Star, Times and Sunday Star—13 issues a week—postage prepaid, is $7.80 a year or 15 cents a week. Address:

THE FARMERS STATE MUTUAL HAILSTORM INSURANCE CO. Mexico, Missouri Third Year

On May fourth there was a terrible hail-storm thru Audrain county, doing immense damage to wheat and fruit and other things, entailing hundreds of dollars in loss, which falls heavily on those who were unfortunate enough to be in the path of the storm and had no hail insurance.

If people would form the habit of being insured against loss by hail as well as by tornado, fire lightning, these losses would be distributed amongst the many and the losers would be re-imbursed. No one need pay but a small part for these large losses and nobody would be badly hurt financially.

This you should do at once and this is the way you do it.
You are to pay $2.00 for membership and advertising. This is all that will be needed unless the losses are to be paid in the fall. The limit that anybody will pay then is $2.00 on the $100.00 of his insurance.

If you take a sheet of paper and write your address and R.
F. D. and the section of your land, then say, I have so many acres of wheat worth so much per acre, so many acres of oats worth so much per acre, so many acres of corn worth so much per acre, or meadow or millet. (The company will write from $5.00 to $15.00 per acre.)

Then sign your name carefully so we can make it out, then address your letter to the above company, put in two ($2.00) dollars. This will pay your membership and all the expenses.

On receipt of your letter and check the company will send you a policy covering on your crop as you have written it.

If you have loss or damage by hail, report it to the company.

If you take insurance now, you are not liable for losses occurring before you were insured.

W. L. FOWLER, Pres.
Reference First National Bank.

Worth Bates, auditor of the Missouri Gas & Electric Service Company, arrived yesterday from Chicago. He will hereafter make his headquarters in this city.

Senator Reed's Interpretation.

Senator James A. Reed will be called upon to make no sacrifice of any importance by his frankness in facing the situation which has arisen from the new tariff law, and from the change in the Administration at Washington.

On the contrary, he will gain greatly in favor among people whose support is best worth having, by being straightforward and frank about matters which cannot and should not be kept from the public or placed beyond reach of intelligent discussion.

Addressing the Travelers' Protective Association at Jefferson City the other day, he touched upon the prevailing business depression and disturbance. But this condition, he predicted would soon pass. It was attributable, he said, to the invariable rule that when tariff revision in a downward direction was made, the status of business was temporarily disturbed.

This is a plain statement of the facts which will appeal to large numbers of people who are willing to apply the rules and experiences of small affairs to larger affairs.

That which has occurred at Washington during the term of President Wilson's incumbency in office has been, practically, a reorganization. It was the sort of reorganization which was justifiable, on the ground that a large minority, if not a majority, of the people of the United States demanded it, and had been agitating for it many years. It could not possibly hamper so rich and powerful a nation as the United States permanently. It might, according to many studious statesmen, make for greater prosperity.

But the immediate result, as is always the case where reorganization takes place, was uncertainty, temporary suspension of activities, and a wary looking about.

It is inconceivable that business depression should long continue in the face of propitious natural conditions. The country is really highly prosperous save in a strictly artificial sense.
It has only to adjust itself to new rules and conditions, and the march of progress will be resumed.

These are facts either stated or implied by Senator Reed's address at Jefferson City. They are facts which observant and broad-minded people everywhere will recognize.—St. Louis Times.

One on the Merchant.

The farmer who was carrying an express package from a city mail order house was accosted by a local merchant: "Why didn't you buy that bill of goods from me? I could have saved you the express and besides you would have been patronizing a home store, which helps pay the taxes and build up this locality."

With characteristic frankness, the farmer asked: "Why don't you patronize your home paper and advertise? I read it and didn't know you had the goods I have here, nor do I ever see your name in the paper inviting me to come to your store." —
